

SAYS EVERY SCHOOL AND COLLEGE TEACHER IN U. S. SHOULD TAKE LOYALTY OATH AS A PATRIOTIC EXAMPLE TO PEOPLE OF NATION

U. S. Senator Edward Martin (Pa.) Addresses American Legion, Dept. of Pennsylvania — Criticizes College Heads Who Oppose Bill Requiring Such Oath or Affirmation.

Special to Courier
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 — Every school and college teacher in the United States should take a loyalty oath as a patriotic example to the people of the nation, U. S. Senator Edward Martin (R) Pennsylvania, declared in an address here today.

Speaking before the annual convention of The American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, Senator Martin sharply criticized college heads who have appeared before a legislative committee at Harrisburg in opposition to a bill requiring such an oath or affirmation. The bill which is supported by the Legion, has passed the Senate and is now before the House.

"I cannot understand why any American who is true to the principles of our country should hesitate for one moment to take an oath of loyalty," Senator Martin said.

"Every real American should be proud to proclaim his Americanism, especially in these crucial times when our ideals and our way of life are under attack from those who would destroy freedom in every part of the world where free men enjoy the blessings of liberty."

"I cannot understand why any real American should refuse to stand up and declare publicly that he is not associated, and would never be associated, with any Communist group or any other organization that advocates the overthrow of our government by violence."

"Above all, the teachers to whom the youth of our land are entrusted, should show by example that they are 100 per cent in loyalty, 100 per cent in patriotism, and 100 per cent in support of the American concept of free government."

"The Legion was the first to propose that the teachers in our college take an oath of loyalty."

"In my mind there is no question about the loyalty of an overwhelming majority of the teachers."

"But we must not close our eyes to the increasing spread of Communist doctrine upon the campuses"

PEACE TALKS

By Howard Handleman
Far Eastern Director INS
UN BASE NEAR KAESONG, Aug. 10 — (INS) — Allied and Red delegates, meeting at Kaesong after a six-day lapse, wrangled for four hours and 15 minutes today without getting any closer to agreement on the vital issue of where to locate an armistice line across Korea.

As a result, the renewed conference appeared closer than ever tonight to a complete breakdown since it began exactly a month ago. At the United Nations base below Kaesong, an official declared that "no progress" toward breaking the prolonged deadlock on the crucial buffer zone issue had been made Friday at the longest session of the conference.

His report seemed all the more pessimistic because the day's record meeting came after a recess since last Saturday—an interlude during which each side had the time to reconsider its stand on the question which had deadlocked the talks for nine days before they were suspended last Sunday.

The official said that at Friday's 20th session of the month-old parley neither side indicated any willingness to back down from its uncompromising stand on where to divide Korea militarily for the purpose of restoring peace.

The atmosphere in the Kaesong conference room was described as one heavy with a feeling of finality in disagreement. The Communist

FINES, COSTS FOLLOW TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS

One Driver Lodged in Bucks County Prison in Default of Fine and Costs

NO ONE IS INJURED

Fines and costs were imposed upon drivers of two automobiles following accidents during the past 24 hours, and in default of payment one of the men was lodged in the Bucks County prison, Doylestown. One crash occurred at Cornwells Heights yesterday afternoon; the other early this morning on the Lincoln highway, Falls township.

A Philadelphia man, John Wybranski, 32, employed at the U. S. Steel Co. plant, Falls township, escaped injury when his car is said to have gone out of control on Bristol Pike at Frieda avenue, Cornwells Heights. The car, travelling west, shot across the highway, struck a utility pole on the south side, snapped it off, and ripped off two sections of fence at the George H. Thomas estate. The car was considerably damaged and was towed from the scene, but Wybranski was unhurt. It is claimed that after striking the tree and fence, the car hurtled back to the north side of the highway. The accident occurred at five o'clock, yesterday afternoon.

State police at Langhorne barracks report that Wybranski was charged with reckless driving, and paid fine and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Reed Ewing, Cornwells Heights. Pvt. McDonough investigated.

The other accident took place at 12:45 this morning on the Lincoln highway, Falls township. Leonard Smith, 42, of the Bronx, New York, was travelling west on Route 1, when he struck the rear of a car operated by Louis Constantini, 22, Trenton, N. J. Damage to the two vehicles totaled $200, officer Thomas, of Langhorne barracks, reports.

Arrested on charges of reckless driving and having no operator's license, Smith was committed to Bucks Co. prison, Doylestown, in default of fine and costs. Information was filed before Justice of the Peace Elwood Fritz, Falls township. There were no injuries.

THE WAR
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA — The Far East Air Force announced tonight that a mass flight of 45 Thunderjet fighter-bombers blasted Communist anti-aircraft positions in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang today. Intensified air action came shortly before a near breakdown in the Korea truce negotiations at Kaesong and not long after United Nations ground forces jumped off on a new "limited objective attack" on the stalemated eastern front.

FREEDOM TO SUPPRESS

For a century and a half, ever since Alexander Hamilton formulated American thinking on the subject in the historic Croswell Case, freedom of the press in the field of public affairs has meant that newspapers had a right to print virtually anything which they considered shed light upon the record and character of public officials.

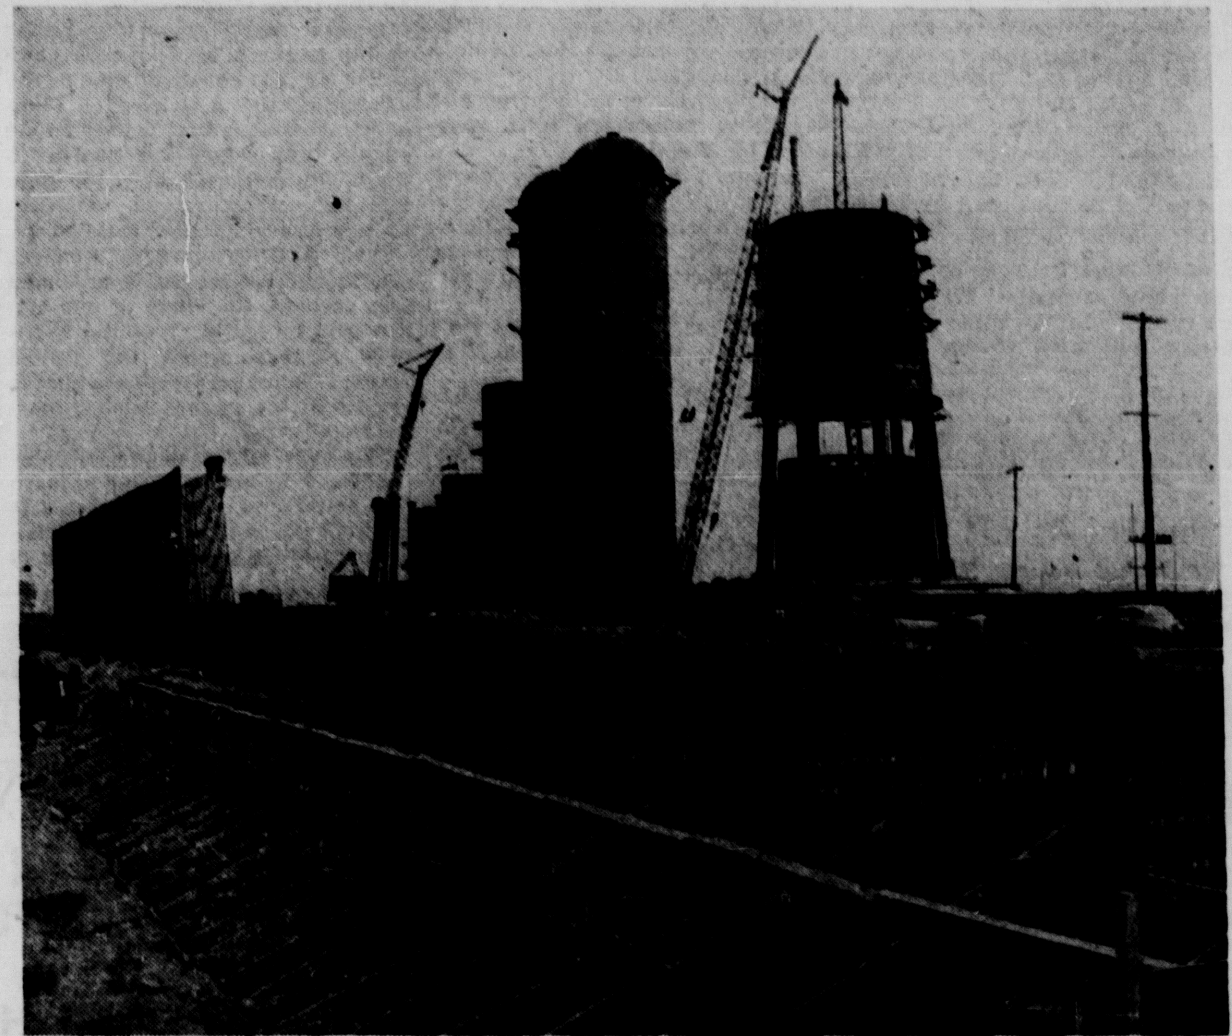

Doubtless the right has been abused. There have been cases where candidates for public office, for instance, have been mercilessly pilloried without much regard for whether they were or were not guilty of the misdeeds which were charged. But the right of free examination of those seeking public office has been considered so important, in its relation to self-government and popular sovereignty, that Congress, state governments and the courts have leaned over backwards to protect the right.

A different phase of freedom of the press has come to the foreground within the present generation, and has grown into more and more of a problem.

Does freedom of the press also cover the right to suppress information which might weaken public support of some cause for which the newspapers (or other agencies of public information) are crusading?

This question needs some amplification because of

GROWS $2,000,000 IN VEGETABLES ANNUALLY

King Farms, Falls Twp., Has Gigantic Task Before It Each Summer

ALL LAND IS LEASED

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 10 — This is a busy season on what is said to be the biggest single-unit vegetable farm east of the Mississippi river — King Farms, Falls township.

Operated by Karl King and his partners, the company sells more than $2,000,000 in vegetables annually.

This business of vegetable growing continues in spirit of the fact that the King Farm is located in the midst of the biggest bottom area of the nation — next-door to the new plant being built by United States Steel Company.

King Farms does not own any ground, but operates on a long-term lease arrangement with the Warner Company, Inc., which owns about 7,000 acres of sand and gravel reserves in the region.

By virtue of a complete mechanization of the farm, King Farms can pick its crops in markets throughout the Middle Atlantic states, and they can deliver the goods to retailers the morning after harvesting.

If prices are higher in Washington, D. C. than in Boston, Mass., a special fleet of trucks can be pressed into service to feed the hungry capital. King Farms ships to Cleveland, O., and Pittsburgh to the west; Washington and Baltimore in the South and Boston and Albany in the North.

This famous Bucks County farm reaches markets which serve more than 40 million consumers.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1951
TRAFFIC VIOLATORS
What is the most effective deterrent to traffic violations? The question is one that concerns enforcement agencies everywhere as highway congestion mounts and the number of drivers willing to take a chance increases.
Fines apparently are not the answer. The violator pays the cost and goes his way to repeat the offense, taking the added chance that he will not be caught this time. This is especially true where there are fixed penalties and the fine can be paid by mail.
Chief Magistrate Murtagh of New York City tells a traffic court conference that even the $15 fine levied for parking violations in New York City has failed to solve the problem. He suggests that regulations which impose inconvenience upon the offenders have greater effect.
New Jersey's Motor Vehicle Director Ferber proposes that magistrates exercise more frequently their power to revoke licenses in cases of serious infractions. That is the most onerous inconvenience that can be imposed, short of jailing. Mr. Ferber says:
"When fines and admonitions fail, a license revocation always brings the careless and indifferent driver to his senses."
If revoking the licenses of careless motorists will save lives, let's have more revocations.

DRAFT DEFERMENT TEST
Casual reaction to the failure by 38 per cent of the 165,000 students who took the first draft-deferment test might be that this is a serious reflection on institutions of higher learning. But that would be to ignore the purpose of the test.
Selective service was not interested in how many were competent to pursue their college work with passing marks, but in how many had the intellectual equipment to make them for the time being more valuable as students than in the armed services. That implied that those capable of passing the tests might best serve the nation as scientists, researchers, administrators or in special capacities.

Remembered lessons and mathematical formulae played relatively little part in the government's test. Ability to reason, analyze, deduce the meaning from literary texts, make the right decision from among several submitted answers was tested.
Precision in vocabulary, too, played a part. The object was to test not how well the student was pursuing his regular college courses, but to elicit some dependable criterion as to his general knowledge and aptitude.
Draft and educational authorities are reported satisfied with the results, finding them about as they had anticipated. In the event there have to be fewer deferments of those already in college life, tests will be made more rigorous or the standards higher.

Post Office Department wants Christmas cards mailed not later than November 15, presumably so it can get them all delivered before the deluge of income tax blanks in March.

of many of our institutions of higher learning.
"We must not ignore the menace of subversive teachings which are shaking the faith of our young people in the principals of our Republic."
"That is why I was shocked and sorely disappointed when the heads of some of the largest educational institutions in Pennsylvania announced that they were not in agreement with the proposal of the American Legion."
"I want to say now that the Legion was right and the college presidents were wrong."
"Loyalty is a fundamental in the preservation of our freedom. I firmly believe that a public declaration and an oath of loyalty would be a great forward step toward the suppression of subversive teachings on the college campus."
Senator Martin gave high praise to the Legion's Americanism campaign as an effective weapon in combating the activities of Communist propagandists among young people. He asked the Legion to work with increased effort for more thorough teachings of American history in every school and college.
"The real meaning of America can be understood and appreciated only through the study of our history and by learning of the sacrifices through which the United States reached greatness among the nations of the earth," Senator Martin said.
"We have made substantial progress since we were shocked to learn that history was being neglected in many of our schools. Nevertheless, we must work harder than ever to make American history a basic course of instruction all over America, from the small country school house to the great colleges and universities."

Senator Martin also appealed to the Legion membership to take leadership in the fight for clean, decent citizenship "without which, he declared, we cannot have sound or honest government."
"The American Legion has always been vigorous and outspoken in its demands for a strong national defense," Senator Martin continued.
"It has been in the forefront of those who saw danger to our country in the neglect of our defensive strength."
"I do not think of national defense in terms of military preparation alone."
"The American Legion can help build America's defense by spearheading a crusade for a moral and spiritual America that will obey and respect the laws of God and man and will battle against corruption wherever it may exist."
"The American Legion can help build America's defense by opposition to waste and extravagance in government and by fighting for policies that will preserve the solvency of our country."

"You are a great and powerful organization. You have the spirit and the will to fight for America. You have led the fight for patriotic Americanism. Now I appeal to you to take leadership in the fight for a solvent, dynamic, spiritual America that will have the power and the strength for victory to bring peace, freedom and justice to all the world."

the season would be enough to throw a party for every person in a city the size of Trenton, N. J., and give them approximately four drinks apiece.

Elaborate packing and grading machinery, a private radio system and portable irrigation facilities are further evidence of King Farms mechanization. The packing equipment and the packers are capable of moving the equipment of 20 carloads of food out of the warehouses and sheds every day.

The irrigation system is capable of watering 120 acres a day. There are approximately 1,000 workers employed at the farm during the peak season, while a corps of 150 employees are carried throughout the year.

The 1,200 workers plus the hundreds of machines combine to produce vegetables that would need 6,000 acres of land under normal circumstances. King production methods, however, get the job done on only about 3,000 acres.

After taking $2,000,000 worth of vegetables out of the ground each year, the company puts back between 4,000 and 5,000 tons of mixed chemical fertilizer.

Freedom To Suppress

the great difference between the journalistic concepts which exist today, and those of previous periods.

There was a time when newspapers confined their editorial opinions pretty strictly to the editorial columns. In theory, at least, the news columns were unbiased and impartial, and if the paper wanted to take sides, it did so editorially without risking the accusation that it was suppressing or distorting news.

Within the last fifteen years, much of this high-minded approach has been relegated to the scrap-heap by a large segment of the metropolitan press, and by magazines, radio and television as well.

It was dubbed "objective journalism," and has been replaced by "subjective journalism," in which the reporter not merely lets his own opinions shine through his stories, but takes pride in doing so, and at times improves on the facts which support his views, and also restates or omits the facts which weaken them.

Whenever it is pointed out that this boils down to sheer propaganda, not to say that it frequently qualifies as plain lying, the papers which specialize in such tactics refer piously to "freedom of the press," accuse those who ask fair play of being mossbacks and reactionaries, and redouble their "crusades."

Out of this changed point of view of the responsibility of the press (for freedom of any sort invariably connotes a corresponding set of responsibilities) has come many undesirable contaminations in public thinking. One of these is the "smear technique" which has been referred to previously in these columns—the trick, specialized in by Hitler but adapted to many other demagogues, of abusing opponents so noisily that they have no chance to reply, and the public assumes them to have been convicted.

These considerations are brought to mind by a recent television program, in which Senator Joe McCarthy was interrogated by a string of supposedly impartial and unbiased press representatives.

Now, the case of Senator McCarthy is one of those profoundly amazing incidents which, sight unseen, the ordinary American would simply refuse to believe could happen.

Ever since this Marine war-hero took in after the Communists entrenched in the national government at Washington, he has been the target of what is possibly the biggest smear operation ever known in history.

He has been assailed not only by the open pro-Communists and by the Truman Administration which, calling the issue a "red-herring," has fought valiantly to save the Communist sympathizers their Federal jobs, but he has been ridiculed and torn to shreds by considerably more than half of the American press, has been held up to scorn by a great string of supposedly impartial individuals in public life, and has even been repudiated by a segment of his own Republican Party.

He has been accused of virtually every offense one can think of—of fabricating evidence, of calling innocent people Communists, of hurling mud at his detractors, etc., etc.

Now the point is this—with all this barrage of abuse, his vociferous critics have produced no evidence to back up their accusations. They have not come forward with this person or that who, accused by McCarthy, was able to show a clean bill of health. Instead, virtually all of this tornado of accusations against the Wisconsin ex-Marine have been the most tissue-like generalities.

At the radio press conference all this came to focus. One after another, the reporters asked leading questions, and one after another they beat hasty retreats when it turned out that Senator McCarthy "had the goods on them," and had no compunctions about using it.

One reporter challenged McCarthy to reveal a list of supposed Communist names. The Senator reminded the reporter that he already had offered to do so on the program, but the sponsor had protested.

The same reporter then accused McCarthy of hiding behind the immunity of a Senator by making his revelations only on the floor of Congress. Blandly the Senator read from columns written by the reporter in question in which, at the beginning of the investigation, he criticized McCarthy for not revealing names, and then, when the names were out, lampooned him for releasing them. He quoted from the official record to show that he himself had protested against the release of the names, but had been overruled by Democrats in charge of the hearings.

Accused of helping smear former Senator Tydings of Maryland, McCarthy quoted from the record to show instances of Tydings helping suppress testimony against the fellow-travelers, said he (McCarthy) was in the position of an attorney whose witnesses the court had refused to call and then was charged with making unsupported charges, and added that in the case of Maryland or any other state, if he had information pertinent to an election, he considered it his duty to lay that information before the voters.

Another interrogator inquired about a newspaper gossip story to the effect that Senator McCarthy had won $500 from a young man in a craps game. Senator McCarthy asked the reporter how it happens that his newspaper had printed the yarn when it was merely a rumor, and then had failed to print the denial issued by the young man supposed to have lost the $500.

The moderator of the program fluttered about like a hen with ducklings, trying apparently to rescue her "panel" from the difficulties they got into by trying to trap McCarthy and being trapped themselves instead.

Now, here is the payoff. This press program has been one of the most widely publicized on television. Over and over again, it has been used as a sounding board for promoting "liberals," and as a means of helping smear and handicap those who think the national government ought to be something more than an exaggerated and politically-minded giveaway game.

But when the expected victim of one of these tearing-down parties turned the tables on his advanced-thinking interrogators, and calmly presented factual evidence to show their bias and unfairness, and practically blew the whole program skyhigh to the discomfiture of all those who had come to pick his bones—when that happened, how much publicity do you suppose appeared in the "liberal" press? You guessed it!

We hope very much that a good many million Americans saw the program, since it spoke for itself—and what it said was that the anti-McCarthy "smear" is full of noise and shy of facts.

What it said was that, in the case of the program, Senator McCarthy did his arguing almost wholly by means of written evidence, and in the main trapped those who attempted to criticize him right out of their own words.

Basically, everything which McCarthy has had to say in connection with national Communism is not his own opinions at all, but photostats, affidavits, sworn testimony, and the like—a great amount of it dug up, not by himself, but by the FBI under G-Man Hoover, and in the case of the State Department, much of it uncovered by State Department investigators themselves.

The "smear-McCarthy" drive, lacking as it does anything much more substantial than hysterical abuse, is a national disgrace. The ex-Marine seems to be doing all right under it, and we are sorry, not for him, but for the millions of patriotic, loyal Americans who presumably are being deceived by the smear-artists.

Whether Congress can do anything to clarify the situation we do not know. We do know that the transcript of the TV program in question ought to be incorporated into the Congressional Record, and that attention must soon be given to the question of whether freedom of the press covers freedom to suppress.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

(Fulton Lewis, Jr., is on a reporter's tour of Europe for four weeks. During his absence guest columnists will write for him. Today's column is by Joe McCarthy, U. S. Senator from Wisconsin.)

By Joseph R. McCarthy
(United States Senator from Wisconsin)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—A year and a half ago I commenced the public phase of my fight to expose and force Communists and fellow travelers out of government. Immediately the President, the Secretary of State and the Attorney General said: "McCarthy is irresponsibly smearing innocent people. There is not a single Communist or pro-Communist in government!"

Space here is limited, so let us briefly review the highlights in the cases of some of those "innocent" people "smeared" by McCarthy.

Evidence on all of the following cases was presented to the Tydings Committee. This was also available to the State Department. Each, however, was given a completely clean bill of health by the Tydings Committee and all were labeled ideal public servants by the State Department.

No. 1: William Remington: On Commerce Department's payroll when case presented to Tydings Committee, but working closely with State Department handling secret material—Tydings Committee refused to hear evidence—later indicted by grand jury for perjury in claiming he was not a Communist—evidence given at a trial that Remington supplied top secret government documents to Soviet couriers—sentenced to five years in prison.

No. 2: Stephen Brunauer: Head of high explosive section of Navy when case given Tydings Committee—Committee found that since Brunauer "has been officially cleared . . . for secret work, no weight will be given McCarthy's allegations in regard to him." Navy Department investigated evidence in Brunauer case, however, and filed charges against him under loyalty program. Brunauer resigned rather than face hearing before Loyalty Board.

No. 3: Esther Brunauer: Evidence disregarded—Brunauer cleared—finally suspended under Loyalty Program.

No. 4: Mary Jane Keeney: Promoted from State Department to higher paid job in UN—finally suspended January 15th of this year under Loyalty Program.

No. 5: John S. Service: Arrested by FBI—FBI testified he turned over military secrets to Philip Jaffee, who was named under oath as Russian agent and convicted in connection with theft of hundreds of government top secret and other classified papers—Service cleared by Acheson and Tydings, but case re-opened by Loyalty Board.

No. 6: Peveril Meigs: Allowed to resign from State Department with clear record—secured job in Army which investigated evidence against him—discharged under Loyalty Program.

No. 7: Val R. Lorwin: First cleared by State Department and Tydings Committee, but finally suspended this year under Loyalty Program.

No. 8: Philip Jessup: Photostatic evidence presented showing (1) Jessup had editorial control of Communist front publication which followed Communist line on Asia; (2) thousands of dollars worth of checks of Communist money used to support Jessup publication; (3) Jessup signed petition following Communist line urging we quit manufacturing atomic bombs and destroy all atomic bomb material by dumping it in the ocean; (4) Jessup signed two affidavits stating Hiss had excellent reputation; (5) Jessup testified under oath in 1950, after Hiss was convicted, that he saw no reason to change that testimony—Jessup's case finally ordered re-opened by Loyalty Board.

No. 9: John Carter Vincent: Another case finally ordered re-opened.

No. 10: Hans H. Lunsberg: First proclaimed "innocent person smeared by McCarthy"—finally ordered discharged under Loyalty Program—appealed to Loyalty review board which ordered him removed on May 25th of this year.

No. 11: Edward Posniak: Presented photostats of file to Senate as typical case named by me (pg. 11120, Congressional Record, July 25, 1950)—File covers field investigation by dozen FBI agents and shows extensive Communist Party line activities and associations—Defended before State Department Loyalty Board by Attorney Howard Westwood, of Acheson law firm, and cleared—Case ordered re-opened—Resigned rather than face a hearing.

In addition to the above, more than two dozen of the other cases named by me before the Tydings Committee have been ordered re-opened by the Loyalty Board. Unfortunately, even though the cases have been re-opened, the Secretary of State refuses to suspend those individuals, with the result that they still have access to secret and other classified material.

Why has the same Loyalty Board which cooperated with the Tydings Committee and cleared every fellow traveler, now ordered the above cases re-opened??? Answer: Seth Richardson, chairman of that board, was replaced by former Senator Hiram Bingham, who, while inexperienced in this type of work, seems to be making an honest and intelligent attempt to get rid of individuals dangerous to this nation. While Richardson seems to have followed the rule that every doubt of Communist activity on the part of men holding high positions should be resolved in favor of the suspected individual, even to the extent of permitting him to remain in a position where a disloyal person could do irreparable harm to our government, Chairman Bingham, up to this time, refuses to follow that dangerous rule.

God's Gift is Flowers

The traditional way to say "with sympathy" is to say it with flowers. Through the centuries men have turned to this blessed way of expressing their tenderest thoughts to friends and dear ones.

Those left behind will never forget the beautiful memory picture your thoughtfulness helps to create. And in years to come, you gain rich satisfaction in having contributed to the silent sermon on everlasting life that flowers add to this sacred occasion.

show if he grows up. His hood is a loose pouch of skin over the nose that he'll be able to inflate, something like a sea elephant."

As to the seal's recovery—a seal-dose of penicillin, 2,000,000 units, has been administered. The officials at the "zoo" hope that will clear up the infection which the seal is said to have incurred in the Delaware river water.

The seal appeared "brighter" yesterday, after a rest from its 2,000 mile swim from the vicinity of Greenland, and after feeding (somehow forced), and the penicillin shots. His companions are some ducks and geese.

If the seal survives it is planned to keep him in the beaver pool, away from the sea lions. He is no match for them now, and although he might be when he gains strength and size (he is now five feet long), he might be able to "hold his own" later. At full growth he should be 10 feet long, and weight over 400 pounds. This type seal is from the North Atlantic and the sea lions are from California. "They just don't seem to get along", added Ulmer.

Average life of a milk bottle is 34 deliveries.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

STUFFED vegetables are perennial favorites in the hit parade of nourishing and appetizing foods. Peppers, eggplant and tomatoes with meat or bread fillings are best known of the group, but several other vegetables can be used to advantage in this type of cooking.

For Sunday's dinner, the A & P Service for Homemakers suggests stuffed cucumbers. To prepare them for stuffing, cut three medium cucumbers lengthwise in halves. Pare and scoop out the insides, saving the pulp. Salt the shells lightly and place them close together in a buttered pan. Mix the pulp with one cup of chopped (fresh or canned) tomatoes, one minced onion, one and one-half cups of minced, cooked chicken, one tablespoon of catchup, one teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of sugar. Add one cup of thin, white sauce to the mixture and fill the cucumber shells. (The sauce is made by beating together one tablespoon of butter, one tablespoon of flour, one cup of milk, salt and pepper.) Bake the stuffed cucumbers in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 minutes. Cover with buttered, toasted bread crumbs.

Try honey rice for a delicious dessert to top off your dinner this Sunday. Wash one cup of rice and cook it in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and add to the rice three-quarters of a cup of heated honey and one-half cup of raisins. Pour the mixture into a well-buttered, shallow baking dish and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven until golden brown. Remove from oven and stir in one tablespoon of lemon juice and one teaspoon of vanilla. Sprinkle with chopped nuts and cinnamon.

FREEZING OF SNAP BEANS IS A VERY EASY, SIMPLE JOB

By Frances Vannoy

Home Economics Extension Rep. It's a simple job to freeze fresh - the - garden snap beans. Young, tender, crisp beans are best to freeze.

Stringless varieties of green beans are most suitable for freezing. Kentucky Wonder, Stringless Greenpod, Top Crop, Tendergreen, and Refugee are good varieties.

Wash freshly picked beans thoroughly and snap off ends, then cut in 1 or 2 inch pieces. French cut, or leave whole. Scald 1 pound of beans at a time in steam or boiling water, using a wire basket, cheese cloth bag, or bag made of stocking to hold beans. For steam scalding use a kettle with a tight fitting lid and a rack to hold the beans above the 1 inch of boiling water. Scald beans 4 minutes. For boiling water scalding, use 1 gallon of water for each pound of beans. Scald beans 3 minutes. Count scalding time from the time you put food in the kettle.

Cooling after scalding is very important. Chill the beans in ice water for the same length of time as they were scalded—4 minutes for steam and 3 minutes for boiling water. Insufficient cooling may be responsible for bacterial action comparable to "flat sour" in canned foods, causing the development of a fishy flavor and odor.

Drain chilled beans thoroughly and package in moisture-vapor-proof containers.

Frozen green snap beans retain much of their vitamin C content. Besides vitamin C, green beans are a good source of the B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, and the minerals—calcium, iron, and phosphorus.

MEAT BALLS APPEAR EX BICHETTE
Devise clever servings to interest your family these warm days. For instance, you might bring to the table a surprise platter of minute meat balls on brochette. They're a tempting touch for indoors as well as out-of-doors eating.

Advise Reba Staggs, home economist, combine the meat mixture ahead of time (a favorite ground meat combination), then form it into small balls from 3/4 to 1 inch thick. Place the balls in your refrigerator and let them chill thoroughly. This way you'll find the balls much easier to handle.

When time comes to cook the brochette food, remove the balls from your refrigerator and thread on skewers (metal or wooden ones may be obtained from most meat dealers). In broiling, arrange the rack so that the balls are about 2 inches from the heat. When browned on the top side, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Total broiler time will be about 20 minutes.

Serve the balls on brochette on a large platter, perhaps in a circular spoke-form. Garnish with parsley, tomato wedges or other touches of color.

HERE'S HOW TO VARY PORK CHOP SERVINGS
Pork chops take an ever important place in menu planning. They fit the large as well as the small family. Equally as important to homemakers is the fact that they may be served in a host of different ways.

Points out Reba Staggs, home economist, pork chops are always cooked by the braising method; however, they may be broiled or stuffed before cooking. If prepared ing stuffed chops, it is best to choose double thick rib chops. A pocket is made in each chop by cutting from the side along the bone. This way, the edges hold together and partially close during cooking. Variety is available with stuffing too. Fruits such as prunes and sliced tart apples, dried apricots and raisins blend well with the pork flavor. Whole kernel corn and green pepper or hard-cooked egg, cracker crumbs and onion are other choices.

Stuffed, breaded or plain, the chops are browned on both sides, covered and cooked either on top of the range or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Typewriter ribbons are, on the average, 25 feet long.

"Pygmalion," One of Most Famous Comedies, To Be at New Hope

NEW HOPE, Aug. 10.—One of the most famous comedies of the modern theatre will be the attraction at the Bucks County Playhouse, here, when Theron Bamberger presents "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw for the week beginning Monday, August 13th, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Katharine Bard, who showed such great talent as the young artist in "The Animal Kingdom," Philip Bournout who was leading man for an entire season at the Playhouse and who has just returned from Hollywood, and Ronald Telfer of this season's permanent acting company will be featured in the three leading roles.

"Pygmalion" is the play about Professor Higgins a specialist in phonetics who makes a bet with his friend Colonel Pickering that he can teach Liza Doolittle, an illiterate flower girl from the slums, such perfect speech that she can pose as a duchess at a royal garden party. The professor wins his wager but soon finds that he must assume responsibility for the future of the new and lady-like Liza with whom he has unwittingly fallen in love.

Philip Bournout will be the Professor Higgins, Katharine Bard will be Liza and Ronald Telfer will be the skeptical Colonel Pickering. Others in this large cast of Broadway actors will include Richard Temple who plays the mercenary but philosophical father of Liza; Mabel Acker, who acted at the Playhouse in "The Late George Apley."

Today's Quiet Moment

By Donald E. May
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

"Our Help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth." Psalm 124 : 8

Almighty God, Thou hast helped people down through the centuries. Thou hast given them strength in time of weakness; guidance in perplexing circumstances; joy in spite of difficult times; comfort in time of sorrow; and always the ability to do the hard right rather than the easy wrong. Be my helper, I pray. Strengthen me; guide me; fill me with joy; bring me comfort; and enable me to do the right.

as well as Ruth White, Margaret Mullen, Gene Blakely, Carl White, Helen Backlin, and many others. The play will be staged by Robert Caldwell and the settings designed by Richard V. Hare.

3M TEAM SURE OF AT LEAST TIE FOR TOP PLACE

The 3M's team assured itself of at least a tie in the battle for the regular season championship of the Bristol Softball League by winning over Auto Boys, 3-1, last evening on Estates field.

The Minnesota Mining team has now won 15 and lost 8 with one game remaining on the schedule. Second Ward, in second place, has won 14 and lost 9. Last evening's loss put Auto Boys out of the running as they have now suffered 10 defeats.

George Wallace pitched 3-hit ball to give the scotch-tape makers the triumph. Although wild, Wallace was very effective in the pinches and it wasn't until the fifth that the Auto Boys team made its first hit, a clean single to left by Joe Steinbrunn.

The winners made five hits off Eddie Kornichuck. Eddie pitched good enough to deserve a better fate but he was the victim of errors. A hit, walk, and three errors gave Minnesota Mining its two runs in the second while in the fourth, a single by Dave Fairbanks, a stolen base, error, and passed ball scored the third run.

Steinbrunn's hit, two wild pitches and a hit by Sam Imperato accounted for Auto Boys' lone marker.

FOUR-RUN BLAST GIVES LEEDOM'S WIN

A four-run blast in the fifth frame gave Leedom's a 6-2 victory over Kaiser Metal Products last evening in a Bristol Industrial Softball League game on the Hunter-Wilson diamond.

Two home runs featured the four-run uprising. With one out, Loud started the rally with a homer and after Hall doubled, Muffett followed with a circuit clout. Three more hits produced the fourth run of the canto.

The winners made twelve hits while Dave Ludwig held Kaiser to four safe blows. Three hits and a fielder's choice gave Kaiser its runs in the fourth.

KAISER METAL EARNS PLAYOFF BERTH IN LEAGUE

Kaiser Metal Products earned a playoff berth in the Bristol Softball League as it blanked Jefferson, 8-0, last evening on Memorial Park softball diamond.

Paul Paolillo hurled the shutout win and although touched for seven hits kept them well smattered. Jefferson did not have an extra base blow and Paolillo gave up but one pass.

The automobile workers made eight safe blows off Johnny Ciambella. Two of these were home runs. In the fourth, Jobey Dugan connected for a four-base clout with two on base while in the seventh, Bill Stockton hit for the circuit with the bases bare.

Blancosino and Dugan had two hits each for the winners while Lasprella and Clotti each had a pair of hits for Jefferson.

The Kaiser victory clinched the first four playoff spots. Fifth Ward is the leading contender for the fifth spot with a possible chance of tying for fourth place.

PARENTS SHOULD UNDERSTAND MORE OF CHILD GROWTH

By Frances Vannoy

Home Economics Extension Rep.

Because of the many states, stages, and complexity of child nature and child growth, a complete understanding of child growth is almost endless. However, research and observation have added to our knowledge about children.

This increased knowledge has given us a deeper understanding of child growth and a more sympathetic attitude toward the problems of children. Much effort has been put forth in finding out how children feel, what their emotional needs are, as well as to record and analyze what they do and say.

Nothing can substitute for actual contact with children themselves, according to specialists in child development. Movies and the written word can help one know what to look for and how to interpret what children see.

Whatever we wish to accomplish with children depends on our knowledge in a specific subject and on our understanding of children themselves. We may know what is good nutrition but we can't get very far with Johnny and his eating habits until we understand Johnny. Too few adults really appreciate the importance of trying sympathetically, persistently, and patiently to understand children. The standard gauge for a railroad track is four feet, eight and one-half inches.
